ROYAL LIVERPOOL

Home of the 151st Open Championship (2023), Royal Liverpool is the oldest of all the English seaside Clubs with the exception of Westward Ho! in Devon, which was established just a few years earlier. Despite its at first glance flat and benign appearance, Hoylake makes the trickiest demands of a player's shot selection, distance control and accuracy.

ROYAL BIRKDALE

Situated on the golden links of the North West coast in Southport, Royal Birkdale is possibly the finest of all courses in England and has played host to The Open Championship 10 times. Birkdale also hosted The Ryder Cup (1965, 1969), The Walker Cup (1951) & The Curtis Cup (1948).

ROYAL LYTHAM & ST. ANNES

Royal Lytham & St Annes is one of the premiere links courses in the World, having hosted 11 Open Championships, two Ryder Cups and numerous other major tournament including The Women's Open, The Senior Open, The Amateur Championship and the Walker Cup.

HILLSIDE

Hillside Golf Club, located just outside Liverpool City Centre, is dotted with magnificent sandhills and stunning pinewoods. The original Hillside course was founded in 1911 but its layout has altered significantly since then, after acquiring land in 1960s it was extensively remodeled. In 2014, the club was selected to stage the Open Championship Final Qualifying for a total of four years.

WEST LANCASHIRE

The West Lancashire Golf Club, founded in 1873 in Blundellsands Liverpool, is among the ten oldest clubs in England and boasts one of the most natural and testing links found anywhere in the British Isles. The course was designed by C K Cotton and is laid out on some 200 acres of land and succeeds in carrying out the ideal layout of a golf course – two loops of nine holes with the 9th and 18th greens in front of the clubhouse.
